Program Overview

Introduction

A program of the Association of Social Work Boards (ASWB), the Approved Continuing Education (ACE) Program was introduced in 1998 as a way to assist ASWB's member boards with information about quality providers of continuing education. The association also saw the approval of continuing education providers as a way to meet one of its goals, to bring greater standardization to social work regulation. Since it was formed in 1979, ASWB's membership has grown to 64 jurisdictions who share in its Mission:

To strengthen protection of the public by providing support and services to the social work regulatory community to advance safe, competent and ethical practices.

ASWB encourages and aids collaborative efforts among its member social work licensure boards in developing compatible standards and cooperative procedures for the legal regulation of social workers, toward the goal of simplifying and standardizing the licensing process. The association's member boards have a longstanding interest in sharing information on continuing education requirements for licensure. ASWB monitors and documents trends in continuing education, including the various criteria of all member jurisdictions, such as hours for renewal, definitions, and documentation.

ACE Approval demonstrates that a provider has been rigorously evaluated and found to offer quality education according to best practices. ACE supports strong standards in CE which translates to competent professionals, helping boards fulfill CE audit responsibilities, and assisting social workers to find CE courses that support licensing requirements. ACE Approved Providers are able to promote CE courses directly to social workers using ACE Search, a free service provided on the ASWB website. Course information is easily managed using ACE Provider, a program which enables immediate, online access to postings.

Please note that ACE resource documents are identified in this document in italics. All resource documents are available in the resource section of the ASWB ACE website. To locate a resource, type the name of the document in the search box in the upper right hand corner of the screen. A complete list of resource documents available is provided on the last page of this document.

ACE Approval

A provider may offer an unlimited number of courses in the approved format(s). The provider may change or develop new content within the approved format(s). There is no limit in the number of course formats which can be approved in the initial application to ACE. There is no fee to add additional course formats and co-sponsorship if submitted at the time of a renewal application. If additional course formats or co-sponsorship are added outside of renewal, an application fee is charged.

Approved Course Delivery Methods and Formats

Continuing education programming may be offered in two course delivery methods recognized by ACE. The face to Face delivery method encompasses courses in which the presenter(s) and attendees are in the same location, with the event occurring at the same time for all participants.

The distance learning delivery method includes courses where presenter(s) and attendees are in different locations, and in which the work may be conducted at different times.

Within each course delivery method, a number of course formats are recognized. To receive approval in a specific course format, applicants must complete the application and submit a course they offer in that specific format. For More information and specific examples and definitions of course delivery methods and formats see the ACE resource document Course Delivery Methods and Formats for more information.

Fees

Approval fees are summarized below see the ACE Fee Schedule for a complete list of fees.

1. ACE Approval
  - $200 Application Part 1 Fee
  - Variable Application Part 2 Fee for first year of approval based on the number of courses offered annually for continuing education credit. The fee for multi-session courses and conferences is based on the total number of sessions offered for continuing education credit; count the total number of sessions in each conference or multi-session. The variable fee scale is as follows:
    - 1-10 courses $300
    - 11-49 courses $600
    - 50-99 courses $900
    - > 100 courses $1,200
2. Add Course Format
  - $175 if not submitted at the time of first application or during a renewal application
3. Co-sponsor fees
  - One-time approval fee of $175 for review of initial application is required
  - A co-sponsor affiliation fee is also assessed. The affiliation fee is based on the number of co-sponsored courses offered during the previous 1-year period (new applicants) or previous 3-year approval period (renewal applicants):
    - 1-10 courses $100
    - 11-49 courses $200
    - 50-99 courses $300
    - > 100 courses $400
4. Renewal fees
  - Fees are determined by the number of courses offered during the three-year approval period. Providers renewing for the first time should multiply the number of courses offered in the previous year by three to determine the amount owed. The variable fee scale is as follows:

- 1-10 courses $600
- 11-49 courses $900
- 50-99 courses $1,200
- > 100 courses $1,500

“This licensure preparation program and materials associated with it were not included in the Association of Social Boards’ Approved Continuing Education (ACE) review and are not approved by ASWB for continuing education nor endorsed by ASWB in any manner.”

Social Worker Consultant

In order to qualify for ACE approval, the applicant must work with a licensed social worker consultant(s) who is involved in each of the following areas:

1. Planning the organization’s continuing education courses.
2. Administering the organization’s continuing education courses.
3. Monitoring the organization’s continuing education courses.
4. Infusing cultural competence in individual courses and the overall program. See the ACE resource document Cultural Competency and Diversity for more information. Use the following categories to guide your response:

The applicant will be asked to describe the activities of the Social Worker Consultant's specific activities in the application.

Provider Agreement

Applicants must submit a signed copy of the ACE Provider Agreement with the initial ACE application, and at renewal. The agreement addresses provider responsibilities related to ACE standards and policies in program operations and the use of the online programs ACEProvider and ACESearch.

Applying to the Program

Applicants interested in applying to the ACE program should contact ACE staff at ace@aswb.org. ACE staff will send the applicant an email with more details about the program requirements and the application process. Once the applicant reads this email, and the attached materials, the next step is to set up a pre-application phone interview with ACE staff. Instructions on how to do this are provided in the email. After the pre-application phone call is completed, the applicant applies to the program using the forms provided by ACE staff. ACE staff will email the application forms that are required to the email address provided by the applicant.

Approval Process

Applicants can contact ACE staff with questions about the program and application materials. Completed Applications are reviewed by the ACE Review Team. Depending on meeting schedules and the number of applications being processed, ACE approval may take three to six months. Applications are reviewed in the order in which they are received. Upon approval, providers are given access to the online program ACEProvider to post courses for viewing in ACE Search.

The Continuing Competence Committee may review applications as needed if requested by the ACE Review Team. This committee is made up of social work professionals in the U.S. and Canada who volunteer with ASWB. This diverse group is made up of social workers with practice or academic backgrounds, who also have regulatory board experience.

ACE approved providers include universities, professional associations, as well as non-profit and for profit organizations offering continuing education programs for social workers.

The work of the ACE Review Team and Continuing Competence Committee in approving providers of CE is confidential, subject to disclosure within the association and to ASWB member boards, upon request, necessary to comply with assessment criteria. Disclosure outside the association will be subject to legal mandate, as advised by ASWB counsel or a court of competent jurisdiction.

When reviewing an application, the review team and committee reserves the right to seek expert advice and relevant information from other external sources, provided that such information is kept confidential by the review team, committee, and the advisor.

In the event that ASWB denies an application for initial approval or extension of approval, or terminates approval, the applicant/provider may appeal the decision to the ASWB Board of Directors.

Appeals must be made in writing to the Executive Director of ASWB at the association's current address, Association of Social Work Boards, 400 South Ridge Parkway, Suite B, Culpeper, VA. 22701. Appeals must include the non-refundable administrative appeal fee.

ACE Standards

Approved Providers must develop and implement continuing education programming according to ACE Standards. These policies were developed over time through the work of professional social workers serving in a volunteer capacity on the ASWB ACE Committee. As issues in social work professional practice, licensure regulation and continuing education emerge and evolve, continuing education staff and the Continuing Competence Committee will review and revise existing standards and/or develop standards and policies promoting best practices and professional competence.

Continuing Education Administration

The continuing education director must be a visible, identifiable authority, charged with ensuring that each program presented by the provider or presented under the provider's ACE approval number meets the requirements of the ASWB Approved Continuing Education Program.

The applicant must explain the organization's mission and goals for the provision and evaluation of continuing education.

Administrative stability must be demonstrated. The applicant must demonstrate a procedure for the smooth and orderly transfer of administrative responsibilities from one individual to another in the event of an administrative change, including due notification to ASWB of such changes. Care must be taken during transitional periods to ensure familiarity with ASWB standards for ACE-approved continuing education providers.

The applicant must provide ASWB with written notification, within 10 days, of any change in the continuing education director, address, web site address or telephone number

Distance education provider applicants must include email and web site address on their ACE application. Applicants must demonstrate that interactive web sites are secure. ASWB periodically monitors web site security.

Required Records

Approved providers are required to collect and maintain the records listed below for at least seven years:

- Organizational changes
- Co-sponsored events, including co-sponsoring agreements
- Personnel records for continuing education directors and social worker consultants (paid or volunteer)
- Instructor information for each course offered
- Participant attendance (participant name, profession)
- Social worker attendance
- Participant evaluations

- Course title, date, location and credits awarded; course outline/syllabus and learning outcomes; Course instructor's qualifications and professional affiliations;
- Grievances and resolutions
- Requests made for accommodations for persons with disabilities and such services provided to participants

ACE approval status is contingent on providing ASWB with a summary report(s) for review and approval by the ACE Review Team at the end of the first approval year, and every three years thereafter (e.g. for renewal of provider approval). ACE approved providers must submit summaries of these records at the time of approval renewal and/or if requested by ASWB.

ACE providers must permit full access to this information (as allowed under applicable state/province and federal laws) upon request by ASWB. The ACE Review Team retains the right and authority to audit and/or monitor programs and review provider records and course materials. All audit requests must be met within 21 days of receipt of request. The ACE provider must allow participants access to information about their course participation.

Co-Sponsorship

ACE approved providers who work with other providers in the development, distribution and/or presentation of continuing education courses engage in co-sponsorship. Co-sponsorship is an opportunity for an ACE approved provider to work closely with another provider (approved or not) to arrange quality continuing education courses in full accord with ACE standards. On a limited basis and under specified conditions, ASWB ACE approved providers may co-sponsor with other reputable providers of continuing education for programs that otherwise meet ACE criteria.

Under a co-sponsorship arrangement, the ACE approved provider assumes responsibility for compliance with all ACE program requirements. Early in the planning, the functions of each party shall be identified and documented, including but not limited to financial, administrative and instructional. Failure to abide by ACE standards may subject the ACE approved provider to adverse action by the association and may jeopardize the ACE provider's approval status. Appropriate fees will apply.

Information, recognition numbers and indicators of ACE approved providers are not transferable to any other entity and may not be used or displayed on promotional material, websites or used in any manner that may be misleading to the public. Only ACE approved providers may use the ACE identifying information and recognition numbers. For further instruction see the ACE resource document Co-Sponsorship Policies.

Program Development

Content

Course content must be pertinent to social work theory, methods and practice, reflecting current research and best practices. Materials developed for audiences other than social workers should be carefully reviewed and modified as necessary (the social worker consultant is integral to this process). All continuing education courses, regardless of course format, must meet ACE requirements.

Applicants for ACE approval are required to review the educational requirements of the social work boards in jurisdictions where they provide continuing education to determine if course offerings meet the needs of social workers in those jurisdictions.

The social work consultant must participate in the following:

- Assessing the educational needs of social workers for the purpose of course development.
- Planning organization's continuing education courses.
- Administering organization's continuing education courses.
- Monitoring organization's continuing education courses.
- Assisting organization in infusing cultural competence and diversity in all programs.

The organization must identify the licensure categories and/or skill levels at which the continuing education program is targeted. Does the course offer a beginning, intermediate or advanced treatment of this particular topic? In the particular content area, course content must be appropriate as stated on materials, for beginning, intermediate, or advanced level practice.

A syllabus or general outline of the course must be made available to participants at the beginning of each course offered. The course must be a minimum of one continuing education hour, in one block of time.

Continuing education programs must include written educational goals and specific, measurable learning outcomes as the basis for evaluation of course effectiveness. The use of a post testing procedure is strongly encouraged to determine how effectively learning outcomes were met. Posttests are required in distance learning courses.

Instructional materials used (e.g. training manual, handouts, outlines, background materials, audiovisual aids, etc.) must enhance the participant's understanding of the topic(s). Include bibliographies and supplemental materials for additional reading by participants. If research is referenced, study and source information must be provided. Appropriate equipment and quality materials must be used.

Bibliography or Reference List

Whether you use a bibliography or a reference, the list should include resources used, including websites, books, journals, articles, reports, charts, videos, etc. You may pick either type of list. Your list must answer these questions:

Is the presentation based on current information, or is it based on foundational material?

- References must be updated regularly
- References cited must reflect "current" research and publications on the course topic (i.e. within the past five years); foundational materials may be included but cannot be the only reference sources.

Is the course information based on your own work or is it based on someone else's work?

- References must include the writings of other authors on the course topic or topics related to the development of the course topic.

Distance Education

Distance education is a method for delivering continuing education to social workers. All ACE approval criteria apply. For more information about ACE distance education requirements see the ACE resource document Distance Learning.

Not all jurisdictions currently approve distance learning courses. For a description of course formats see the ACE resource document Course Delivery Methods and Formats.

In addition to meeting all other ACE approval requirements, distance education providers must:

1. Provide a pilot tested method of determining credit hours (Request ACE Course Development Checklist)
2. Provide scheduled access to a contact person
3. Provide scheduled interaction between instructor and participant
4. Have the capacity for completed assignments to be faxed, mailed, or e-mailed to qualified instructors for correction, grading, comment, and subject matter guidance
5. Return corrected assignments to participants in a timely manner
6. Provide a method for verifying that the individual participated in the continuing education activity, and that all work was done by the person awarded the credit
7. Employ electronic security measures, and reliable technology
8. Post-tests, containing questions appropriate to content and credits are required in distance learning courses.
9. Provide e-mail and website address information on ACE application
10. The course delivery format must be established before the customer takes the course and must be clearly communicated in promotional materials as well as the certificate of completion
11. Course “interactivity” must be established before the customer takes the course and must be clearly communicated in promotional materials as well as the certificate of completion
12. Course “interactivity” must be described in the ACE application

Instructors

Instructors or presenters of continuing education courses offered by ACE providers must have professional qualifications in good standing with their professional regulatory board, if applicable, and meet one or more of the following:

1. Be a faculty member of an accredited undergraduate or graduate school of social work
2. Have received specialized graduate or postgraduate level training in the subject taught in the program
3. Have extensive experience to include no less than five years of practical application or research involving the subject taught in the course

In the ACE application, applicants providing distance education programs must document instructor availability to participants. Applicants/instructors must possess the technical expertise to communicate the course subject matter effectively.

Evaluation

Effective continuing education courses must be professionally relevant. Relevancy can be assessed on three levels: 1) by individual participant evaluation, 2) by course evaluation, and 3) by program evaluation. The applicant must develop and implement participant evaluations. Course and program evaluations are recommended. See the ACE resource document Developing Evaluations for more information. Evaluation requirements are discussed in further detail in the Appendix, Item 4.7.6 Section E.VII Evaluation.

- Course Evaluation - ACE providers are expected to use educationally sound methods to evaluate courses. Participant evaluations should be analyzed, summarized and interpreted as a means to improve the provider's continuing education courses.
- Program Evaluation - Course quality reflects program quality. The ACE provider is expected to make modifications to the overall program based on course evaluation information.

Attendance & Certificate of Credit

For on-site and distance learning courses, ACE providers must have procedures for documenting participation by program attendees; e.g. an attendance roster, sign-in/sign-out log, and program evaluations completed by attendees.

The ACE provider must issue a completed and signed certificate verifying attendance and credit awarded to each participant who completes the course. These certificates may only be provided after the participant has completed the course, and must be provided within 30 days after the event. Duplicate or replacement certificates must be clearly marked as "replacement copy" or "duplicate copy."

Certificates of credit and/or other means of documenting credit must include:

- Title, location, date(s) of the course
- Course delivery format
- For distance learning courses: if the course is interactive or non-interactive; a description of the interactive aspects of the course
- Name of participant and license jurisdiction; (if required by jurisdiction) social work license/certification/registration number
- Amount of credit awarded/clock hours
- Designation of continuing education hours (CE) as clinical, ethics, cultural competency, or other if required to be listed by the social work attendee's jurisdiction
- Approved provider sponsoring or co-sponsoring the course (Provider name, ACE approval #)
- ACE approval statement-

"This organization (provider name and approval number) is approved as a provider for continuing education by the Association of Social Work Boards. www.aswb.org. ASWB Approval Period: _____ (dates). The (organization name) maintains responsibility for the program. Social workers should contact their regulatory board to determine course approval.

Social workers will receive ____ (list clinical, ethics, or cultural competency here if required by the jurisdiction) continuing education clock hours in participating in this course.”

Assigning Credit

ACE Resource Assigning Credit In order for a course to qualify for continuing education credit, it must:

- Be one hour or more in length
- Meet ACE requirements for specific learning outcomes
- Contain demonstrable social work content and/or be applicable to social work practice
- Meet ACE requirements for evaluation
- May have one or more presenters who meet ACE requirements for instructors (brief bio: license and/or credentials, appropriate experience, education)

Providers must adhere to a uniform system for assigning credit based on the continuing education hour, defined as a 60-minute hour with no less than 50 minutes of uninterrupted instruction. The number of continuing education credits must be determined before the course is offered. The course must be a minimum of one continuing education hour, in one block of time. Attendance of the individual who receives the certificate must be verified

Instructors must adhere to the published time schedule in order for full credit to be given. Distance learning courses must be pilot tested to determine credit hours.

Pilot tests

At the beginning of 2013, ACE began requiring pilot testing for development of distance learning courses to meet the need for closer verification and documentation of course length vs # CE credits, and address other course development quality issues.

The ACE Course Development Checklist, which outlines specific requirements for pilot testing, is recommended for use as a resource when developing all new courses. Use of the ACE Course Development Checklist and pilot testing are required when developing new distance learning courses.

Pilot testing is required for the following distance learning course types:

- Home study (enduring materials, asynchronous, self-paced)
- Online (asynchronous, self-paced)
- Webinars (recorded, asynchronous, self-paced)
- Hybrids (asynchronous, self-paced)

Pilot testing must also be completed when:

1. An existing course is offered in a new delivery format
  - Evaluations from previous offerings of the course can be adapted as a pilot test (evaluation must contain required questions-contact ACE staff for more information)
2. The ACE provider develops a new course format in which to offer courses
3. The course content is updated or revised

4. The length of a course changes

Pilot testing is NOT required for the following distance learning types: Live webinars offered in real time, including live interaction between participants and presenters.

Posttests

ACE requires posttests for all distance learning offerings. Guidelines were developed to assist providers in preparing and creating posttests that accurately assess participant learning. See the resource document Guidelines for Developing Posttest Questions for more information.

ADDITIONAL TESTING OPTIONS for live webinars and live teleconferences

ACE will accept either a:

1. Posttest - standard form-(see ACE resource, Guidelines for Developing Posttest Questions)

OR

A. Interactivity / participation must be demonstrated:

- Attendance is monitored via distance learning technology
- Interaction is assured through sound instructional design practices, and continued interactivity between faculty and learner

B. Acceptable examples: polling questions, case study discussion, live/virtual chat, Q&A, and/or interactive whiteboards.

TESTING OPTIONS for home study, online courses, recorded webinars, and hybrids

ACE will accept

1. Posttest - standard form-(see ACE resource, Guidelines for Developing Posttest Questions)

2. Posttest format consisting of essay question-and-answer which meets the following requirements:

- An acceptable rubric for question-and-answer format posttest must be developed and utilized by the ACE provider organization demonstrating objectivity and impartiality in the testing
- The ACE provider must be prepared to submit an explanation or demonstration of the posttest and the rubric

Promotion & Advertising

ACE providers must promote and advertise each course in keeping with social work ethical conduct and core values (e.g. as defined under applicable state and federal laws). Adequate and accurate advance information must be provided to prospective participants. There are a number of required topics that must be addressed in promotional materials in order to meet the ACE Standard, these include:

1. Specific learning outcomes for the course:
  - Must be measurable and/or observable
  - Illustrate what participant will be able to demonstrate after attending the course
  - Course target audience
2. Targeted social work practice and/or content levels:

- Beginning level
  - Intermediate level
  - Advanced level
3. Instructors and their qualifications

  12. Statement of when and how certificate will be awarded
  13. Where both educational and non-educational sessions are offered, the courses for credit must be clearly identified.
  14. Instructions for addressing grievances, CE provider contact information

Approved providers must conspicuously place the following statement on all publications and materials associated with social work continuing education courses:

The following information must be included in promotional materials:

- Contact information for independent contractor/instructor
- Contact information for agency offering the course
- Provide a statement informing participants who to contact for assistance for specific issues. Example: “If you have questions or concerns about the course content, references or content evaluation, contact (your email address). ## Grievance Policy

ACE Providers must respond to all complaints received by the provider, a regulatory board, or ASWB in a timely and ethical manner. The ACE provider must have policies and procedures for grievance management; e.g. refund requests, complaints about course content and/or facilities, non-receipt of certificates, etc. These policies must be in a written format to assure due process for all complainants. The social worker consultant* must be involved in all grievance resolutions.
